Season's Greetings

For New Mexico's veterans and their families, the holiday season is traditionally a time for us to gather and spend time with family and loved ones. Unfortunately, the COVID-19 pandemic has made this year’s festive season unlike any other. While we may not be able to engage in our family traditions, let’s make new ones that will be just as lasting in the years to come.

Sadly, the pandemic has placed restrictions on travel and visiting our loved ones in nursing home facilities. To help bring some cheer to the residents of New Mexico Veterans Home, we have launched Operation Holiday Cheer! You can join us by sending holiday and thank you cards to the residents and staff. A flyer is enclosed with the details, and please follow the safety precautions.

We know this time of year can be challenging for some veterans and their families with triggers of loneliness and hopelessness. We want you to know that you are not alone and have included some resources for your wellbeing.

Please visit our website soon and take a survey related to the pandemic. We want to know how the virus has impacted you and your family. This quick survey will help us to serve you better.

In closing, DVS would like to encourage each of you to stay strong. Here's to a happier and more prosperous 2021.

Happy Holidays,

DVS Urges Veterans At Risk For Suicide To Seek Help This Holiday Season

With the 2020 holiday season well underway, the focus for most veterans—and most Americans—is on family, friends, and times spent together amid holiday cheer.

But for many, the holidays can trigger feelings of anxiety, hopelessness, and loneliness. This year, the nine-month-long COVID-19 pandemic has also created financial hardships for many Americans, adding another layer of isolationism.

All of this may be creating tremendous feelings of despair—to the point where someone may be contemplating taking their own life.

The New Mexico Department of Veterans Services (DVS) is asking veterans, their families, and their friends to be aware of signs that may suggest someone may be having suicidal thoughts. Things like isolating, substance abuse, self-harming, overwhelming negative self-view, giving away possessions, not eating—these are all signs that a person may be suffering mentally or emotionally, and may be on the path towards taking their own life.

DVS is asking that if you are feeling any of the above emotions, or know someone who is, please take immediate action. There are four resources available for someone to contact in order to get immediate help.

Suicide prevention is, in reality, a year-round endeavor, and that the above resources are available for immediate help 24-hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year.

There is also year-round mental and behavioral health counseling available from the New Mexico VA Health Care System’s four Vet Centers in New Mexico.

Vet Centers are VA-managed community-based counseling centers that provide a wide range of social and psychological services—including professional readjustment counseling to eligible veterans, active duty service members, including National Guard and Reserve components, and their families.

Join DVS for a Facebook Live Discussion on Suicide Prevention
On Friday, December 18 at 10am, the DVS Healthcare Division is hosting a Facebook Live Suicide Prevention Awareness discussion with DVS Healthcare Division Director Jemia Warner and New Mexico VA Health Care System (NMVAHCS) Suicide Prevention Case Manager Christina Camacho. This discussion can be found at https://www.facebook.com/nmdvshealthcare2015

The focus will be on an overview of the services provided through the NMVAHCS Suicide Prevention program, general information on suicide, tips for suicide prevention support systems, and information about additional local and national resources. For those unable to log on, a video will be posted on the DVS Facebook page shortly after the conclusion of the discussion.

“DVS wants veterans, their families, and their friends to know that they do not have to face a suicide crisis by themselves,” said DVS Secretary-Designate Sonya L. Smith. “No situation should warrant the taking of a life. There is help available for whatever it is that’s troubling a person. All it takes is one phone call to find a solution.”

DVS Launches Operation Holiday Cheer to Send Holiday Cards to the State Veterans Home
The New Mexico Department of Veterans Services (DVS) is asking New Mexicans to help it launch Operation Holiday Cheer to bring season’s greetings to residents and staff of the New Mexico State Veterans Home in Truth or Consequences.

To take part in this first-ever operation, DVS is asking New Mexicans to send holiday cards to the home, which will be evenly distributed among residents and staff. The cards need only be addressed with “Dear Veteran,” and contain a short message of appreciation for the military service of the veteran. Cards for staff can be addressed, “Frontline Hero,” or another term of endearment, along with a brief message of appreciation for providing care for the home’s residents.

“Our agency is hoping the veterans home will be flooded with holiday and thank you cards for residents and its staff,” said DVS Secretary-Designate Sonya L. Smith. “Due to the pandemic, there are visitation restrictions, so we feel Operation Holiday Cheer would be a great way of letting them know there is someone out there who appreciates what they’ve done for our country or are doing for the home’s residents--and that someone is thinking of them this holiday season.”
Please help us send Holiday Cheer by mailing cards to residents and staff of the New Mexico State Veterans Home.

Mail Cards to:
The New Mexico State Veterans Home
Attn: Operation Holiday Cheer
992 South Broadway
Truth of Consequences, NM 87901

*The New Mexico Departments of Veterans’ Services and Aging & Long Term Services asks that you observe the following COVID-19 safety precautions when mailing cards or letters:

- Wash your hands thoroughly with soap and warm water, or use hand sanitizer, before writing on the card and inserting it in the envelope.
- Do not lick the envelope to seal it. Use a paper towel or cloth moistened with water.
Emergency Relief Funds Available for Veteran-Owned Businesses and Service Organizations

December 18 is the deadline to apply for federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act relief grants for small businesses and nonprofit organizations suffering financial hardships by the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. The grant application window closes at noon.

Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham and the Legislature directed $100 million of CARES Act stimulus funds to the NMFA at a November 24 special legislative session. Funds must be distributed by December 28.

The grants provide up to $50,000 for New Mexico small businesses with 100 or fewer employees. The New Mexico Finance Authority (NMFA) will administer this grant program. Hospitality and leisure businesses will be prioritized, but all affected small businesses are encouraged to apply. Non-profit agencies that focus on assisting military veterans and active-duty personnel are also eligible. Eligible non-profit organizations must be registered as a 501(c)(3), 501(c)(6), or 501(c)(8), or as veterans’ organizations described in Section 501(c) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and subject to the provisions of the Nonprofit Corporation Act. For more information, go to www.nmfinance.com/cares-continuity-grants/.

Per state COVID-19 public health orders, interment services at these cemeteries are limited to five people. Attendees are required to wear masks and observe six-foot social distancing spacing. DVS-Managed State Approving Agency Receives Highest Possible Rating

The New Mexico State Approving Agency (SAA), which is managed by DVS, received the highest rating possible of “satisfactory” by a VA Joint Peer Review Board for fiscal year 2020. Every state has an SAA to ensure the quality and integrity of post-secondary education, licensure and vocational training programs for use by a veteran’s GI Bill® education benefit. SAA’s spend the majority of the year conducting on-site and administrative inspections of these institutions to ensure that strict VA standards are met regarding curriculum, training programs, and the prevention of fraud, waste, and abuse of the GI Bill®.

In its final overall grading of New Mexico’s SAA, the review board praised New Mexico’s SAA for not only exceeding all benchmarks to ensure the integrity of each institution, but also for being able to accomplish this amid the COVID-19 pandemic. A few states did not receive the “satisfactory” rating as they were unable to work around the closures and restrictions posed by school or institution shut-downs—and the inability for any SAA’s to properly carry out their task of conducting typical on-site compliance surveys.

DVS SAA Bureau Chief Marilyn “Mandy” Dykman acknowledged the year has been difficult for her and SAA Program Consultant Kathy Snyder, who between them processed more than 3,100 programs from colleges, universities, federal On-the-Job Training (OJT) programs, flight schools, and vocational apprenticeship programs.

“This was unlike any other year for us here at the SAA,” said Ms. Dykman, who is a retired U.S. Coast Guard Lieutenant Commander and helicopter pilot. “But we have a great I-T and administrative support staff here at DVS which provided us everything we needed to carry out our mission. We couldn’t have done this without them.”

Protect Yourself from Social Security Scams
Be on the lookout for fake calls and emails

Telephone and email scammers are pretending to be government employees. They may threaten you and may demand immediate payment to avoid arrest or other legal action. Do not be fooled!

If you receive a suspicious call:
1. HANG UP
2. DO NOT GIVE MONEY OR PERSONAL INFORMATION
3. REPORT THE SCAM AT OIG.SSA.GOV

What to look out for

- The caller says there is a problem with your Social Security number or account.
- Scammers pretend they’re from Social Security or another government agency. Caller ID or documents sent by email may look official but they are not.
- Any call asking you to pay a fine or debt with retail gift cards, wire transfers, pre-paid debit cards, internet currency, or by mailing cash.
- Callers threaten you with arrest or other legal action.

Be Alert
Social Security may call you in some situations but will never:
  » Threaten you
  » Suspend your Social Security number
  » Demand immediate payment from you
  » Require payment by cash, gift card, pre-paid debit card, or wire transfer
  » Ask for gift card numbers over the phone or to wire or mail cash

Be Active
Protect yourself, friends, and family!
  » If you receive a questionable call, hang up and report it at oig.ssa.gov
  » Don’t return unknown calls
  » Ask someone you trust for advice before making any large purchase or financial decision
  » Don’t be embarrassed to report if you shared personal information or suffered a financial loss
  » Learn more at oig.ssa.gov/scam

The Federal Trade Commission, AARP Sound the Alarm About Scams Targeting Veterans

Story courtesy of Carol Kando-Pineda/Attorney, FTC Division of Consumer & Business Education, and Gary Williams/AARP New Mexico Associate State Director for Community Outreach

Over the past four years, the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) logged more than 378,000 reports from military veterans—nearly 161,000 of which were fraud-related. More than 24,000 of these fraud cases reported a loss, with total losses of $205 million. Veterans had a median loss of $755, compared to active duty service members who reported a median loss of $500 over the same period.

For both veterans and active duty personnel, imposter scams were among the top five scams causing a loss. Imposters pretend to be someone veterans trust to try to convince them to send money. These scammers use all kinds of angles to make their stories sound believable. The FTC and AARP New Mexico offer some tips (and provide video links) for spotting imposters and scams.

Government
Scammers pretend to be officials from the IRS or other government agencies to get your money. They even rig caller ID to make their call look official. They play on your fears and threaten to take your driver’s license or sue, arrest, or deport you, if you don’t pay. If you suspect you’re getting one of these phone calls, hang up—legitimate government officials won’t threaten you or insist that you pay with a gift card, a wire transfer, or cashier’s check. Video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=i4nCy6Xs6R8&feature=youtu.be

Business
Some scammers are “phishing” for your personal information and pretend to be from legitimate businesses, including popular online shopping websites. A caller may claim to be from Amazon.com—they say your credit card has been charged a large amount of money for an order. Then, they’ll give you the “Amazon Support” phone number and tell you to immediately call if you didn’t make that order. Don’t do it. That’s not really Amazon. The scammers want you to call their number so they can ask for your passwords, credit card number, and other sensitive information to get your money. For more information: https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/blog/2020/07/hang-business-imposter-scams

Online Romance
You meet someone on a social networking site. They seem like a perfect match, but soon enough they ask you to send money. That person pretending to be your virtual sweetheart is a scammer. If an online love interest asks you for money, don’t send it. Video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jlxWxH0mgU8

Tech Support
Scammers pose as big-name companies and call or send pop-up messages to scare you about the security of your computer. They run scans to show you what’s wrong with your computer. But the truth is, they aren’t finding and fixing problems. They just want you to pay for software or tech support services you don’t need. Don’t give out your financial information, and don’t let anyone that you did not authorize take control of your computer.
